CAUTION: External sender.

Too often we honor people when they're gone. I couldn't find it more appropriate to honor a person who has given his heart, soul, energy, passion, commitment and most importantly TIME to make the community of Scarsdale a better place for kids for decades. This is nearly impossible to find in today's day and age to find a person like this who every practice, every talk with a kid and every interaction with a parent inspires us all to do better. Naming this field after him will remind people every day to always work hard, always have a great attitude and always give their best – qualities that our kids all need. This is not something that can be bought with money, but should be done to honor a great person who has given Scarsdale essentially a lifetime of commitment.

Thank you for your consideration!
