Dear Mayor,

I am a 40 year resident at 11 Ross Road where my children were raised and where I have personally made many improvements to my property. I am approaching retirement and want to remain in this home and enjoy Scarsdale. The Ryan revaluation has placed an undue tax burden on the middle valued properties like mine and will increase the challenge of affording to remain in Scarsdale. More important is the fact that high taxes on homes like mine will deter buyers - young families that should be able to afford our community.

I urge you to address this unfair and arbitrary tax burden without wasting taxpayer dollars on attorney fees. The Ryan reval should be overturned.

Paul R. Weiss M.D.
